Framework agreements with a total volume of €150 million: Bilfinger maintains offshore facilities in the North Sea

The engineering and services group Bilfinger has signed framework agreements with two longstanding customers in the oil and gas sector. The contracts cover maintenance and repair of offshore assets in the British North Sea. The contracts each run for a period of five years and have a total volume of €150 million.

The framework agreements include the industrial scaffolding, insulation, fire and corrosion protection works that are necessary for maintenance. They also cover special services for cleaning and decommissioning of the facilities.

Bilfinger is among the leading providers of industrial services in the United Kingdom. The company generated an output volume of approximately €500 million in this market in financial year 2014.
